Hi Everyone,

Thanks for your help with this Idaho question today. Here's a little background to help begin the conversation....

1. USEI Site B suffered a fatal explosion on 11/17/18.
2. USEI Site B has not returned to normal work except for the allowance of direct landfilling since the explosion due to the damage.
3. The containment building where the explosion took place has been leveled but the foundation is still there. The analysis of the building shows that the foundation of the building endured significant stress and it's highly unlikely that any Professional Engineer would certify the foundation as acceptable for reuse. This is not exactly how USEI sees things.
4. IDEQ is considering calling in the site's closure plan for the containment building and they would like EPA's advice on this path and/or options that may be a better fit.
5. Brian discussed this option with the Permit Writer's call yesterday (anyone listen into that call?). Brian said that most states agreed with IDEQ's proposed plan. A 7003 Order was also a suggested option (do states have the authority to use 7003?).
6. Do we (R10) have any sample letters that may be helpful in IDEQ's drafting of the call in of the partial closure? Specific POC's to talk with on this action?

That's the scoop. I look forward to talking with you all at 1:00pm today.

Thanks, Barbara
